Dear Mid-Atlantic Regional Partnership Committee Representatives and Partners,

The ice has begun to thaw and our RPC Chair Scott Birchman and I are both looking forward to having you participate in some spirited discussions at our meeting on Saturday, 10 March at the Unitarian Universalist Church at 2 Forge Rd in Boiling Springs. Please plan to arrive in time to enjoy a cup of coffee or tea and say hello before things officially get started. We hope to begin promptly at 9:00 as it promises to be a very busy day.

Enclosed or attached are the documents that have been prepared for our meeting, including the agenda that was previously distributed electronically. If there are other items that you would like to see added, please let Scott or I know ASAP.

Over the years we have learned that some of our most valuable time together can occur after the meeting at the Scott Farm, where traditionally we share refreshments and a meal and swap trail tales. Please consider joining us at the farm and let John Luthy jluthy@appalachiantrail.org know so that we can plan accordingly for supper provisions. If you would like to spend the night in the bunkhouse before or after the meeting, let us know so that we can turn the heat on for you.

Travel safely and come ready to move the mid-Atlantic region forward in a positive way!

Sincerely,

Karen L. Lutz
Director, Mid-Atlantic Region
